Congratulations on finding ourlunigiana.com! So what are we doing here... This is a website dedicated to Lunigiana, the northern most tip of Tuscany. It is run by and for ExPats living (either full or part time) in the area, or visitors who think they might . It is our online community where we will share news, views, experiences and advice.

So if this sounds like you please register for access. Many parts of the site are only available to registered users.
